

WHAT'S NEW?

The Legacy is all new for the 2010 model year. Bold exterior styling distinguishes the Legacy from other mid-size sedans and a new larger platform provides greater interior and cargo volume. Although larger, the new Legacy is more fuel efficient thanks to various powertrain enhancements, including the availability of the Lineartronic™ CVT (Continuously Variable Transmission) on select models.

MODEL OVERVIEW

2010 LEGACY

1 Despite being taller, the 2010 Legacy is more aerodynamic than the previous generation with a drag coefficient of just 0.29. Less drag means lower fuel consumption and less wind noise.

2 All Legacy models are equipped with fully framed windows, minimizing wind noise and offering greater occupant protection through increased door rigidity.

3 The short deck design gives the Legacy a dynamic look but also conceals a 415-litre trunk, almost 30 percent larger than the previous model.

4 The rear door openings are 78 percent wider than the previous generation, particularly noticeable when helping someone get seated or when installing a child seat.

5 Four unique wheel designs are available, ranging from 16-inch steel wheels with wheel covers to aggressive 18-inch aluminum alloys.

6 While only 30 mm longer than the previous generation, the 2010 Legacy is the roomiest Legacy ever offered thanks to better space utilization, reduced overhangs and a longer wheelbase.

7 Aggressive wheel arches give the Legacy a forceful stance, helping it stand apart from the conservatively styled cars in the mid-size segment.

8 The Legacy features Subaru's latest interpretation of the "Spread Wing" grille, a subtle cue to Subaru's aviation heritage.

1 An available Bluetooth® hands-free system and voice-activated navigation system let drivers keep both hands on the wheel for added active safety.

2 Centre console versatility and storage is enhanced now that the parking brake lever has been replaced by an electronic parking brake system.

3 The steering column is 10 percent lighter and 10 percent stronger compared to the previous generation. The result is enhanced steering feel.

4 The front seat design has been optimized to reduce whiplash in a rear collision. As such, the anti-whiplash head restraints were replaced with a more comfortable and advanced design.

5 A MediaHub for iPod® and USB integration is standard on most models. Now an iPod® or USB can be controlled directly through the audio system and steering wheel controls.

6 Rear legroom has increased by 100 mm due to the longer wheelbase and shoulder and hip room have increased due to the wider stance; even full-sized adults can easily get comfortable.
